U. S. Air Force Recruiting Service

Col. Irene M. Wendt, R.N., Chief Nurse of the U. S. Air Force Recruiting Division, has written to inform us that "the U.S. Air Force at this time will not commission a nurse who has graduated from a nursing school whose clinical and classroom time is less than thirty months". This has implications for Associate Degree Programs and for Diploma Programs which may be considering academic years.

National League for Nursing

The Department of Practical Nursing Programs Council of Member Agencies, at its first meeting in Detroit in mid-May of this year "voted to recommend to the DPNP Steering Committee that a study committee be appointed to do the initial work in developing a profile of a good school of practical nursing". This can be used in providing accreditation criteria for evaluating schools of practical nursing.

"The nurse may contribute to research in relation to a commercial product or service, but does not lend professional status to advertising, promotion, or sales." Nurses appearing in commercials, using the title and symbols of the profession, are thus guilty of professional misconduct according to the Code adopted by the membership of this association.
